Dr. McCoy is the doctor for the Starship crew. He needs your help to make sure the crew is in tip-top health before they leave on their 5-year mission to explore strange new worlds.

- At station one, you will be helping Dr. McCoy test the crew's sense of touch and smell.
- At station two, you will be giving the crew a healthy heart checkup.
- At station three, you will be teaching the crew about sound waves and how humans hear sounds.
- At station four, you will be showing the crew how their mind can sometimes play tricks on them.
- At station five, you will be explaining to the crew about taste buds and taking a water taste test
- At station six, you will be showing the crew how their space food is digested
OR
- At station six, discover a world of color using a microscope.
