A well-known spy by the name of Boris Stroganoff has stolen top-secret papers from the Central Intelligence Agency, otherwise known as, the CIA. Boris broke through every security level to reach the safe where the papers were located. Boris is believed to be a CIA academy dropout (he never studied). The agency thinks they know how Boris reached the safe and stole the top-secret papers. The Agency needs you to test their hypothesis (what they predict happened). Your mission, should you choose to accept it, will be to determine if the Agency's hypothesis is correct and help them find Boris Stroganoff.
